Schemes Details

Department	Agriculture, Farmers Welfare
Objective	The objective of this scheme is to make quality certified and truthful seeds of chickpea, cumin and coriander, produced by universities, easily available to farmers for the Rabi 2025-26 season. Through an online registration system, farmers can conveniently apply for and obtain seeds, which will help improve crop productivity, ensure timely availability, and promote the use of high-quality seeds.
Purpose	The purpose of this scheme is to ensure that farmers receive timely access to high-quality certified and truthful seeds of chickpea, cumin and coriander produced by universities for the Rabi 2025-26 season. By offering an online registration facility, the scheme aims to make the process simple and transparent, encouraging farmers to use better seeds and improve crop productivity.
Benefits	This scheme benefits farmers by providing easy and timely access to high-quality certified and truthful seeds of chickpea, cumin and coriander produced by universities for the Rabi 2025-26 season. Through online registration, farmers can avoid middlemen, save time, and ensure they receive authentic seeds at fair prices. The use of quality seeds helps increase crop yield, improve income, and promote sustainable farming practices.
Eligibility	Farmers who wish to procure certified and truthful seeds of chickpea, cumin and coriander produced by universities for the Rabi 2025-26 season are eligible to apply. Applicants must be registered farmers with valid identification documents such as Aadhaar card, land ownership records (7/12, 8A) and a bank passbook. Priority may be given to small and marginal farmers, and applications must be submitted online within the prescribed period.
Documents Required	Copy of Aadhaar Card, latest original 7/12 land record (not older than six months), and copy of the first page of the bank passbook with account number and IFSC code (mandatory to attach with the application; cumin and coriander seed purchasers need only keep a copy of the online application).
